What Our Park Commissioners Are Doing.

The Two Great Fountains-The One in Central Park Almost Completed-Miss Stebbins' Statuary an Entire Success-The City Hall Fountain-The Union Square Improvement for Public Meetings-Destroying and Planting Trees-The Battery, Manhattan Square, the Museums of Art and of Natural History and the Belvidere.

What with legislative opposition there and musipal interference here the Commissioners of our olic Parks have by no means that intense quiet which it might be supposed gentlemen en-gaged in so. Esthetic a department of our civilisaa should be entitled to. Though they are specially appointed to spend the people's money in a way which they may suppose most consistent with the ople's good, they are not permitted its calm disbursement without opposition in several quarters. But this has been the daily history of the past few months, and the readers of the HERALD have been already pretty extensively informed on that

But the Commissioners, in spite of all the opposition they meet, are at present engaged in several works of magnitude which are deserving of special notice. Not the least among these are the two great fountains—one in the Central Park and the other in the City Hall Park. As this is one of the species of city embellishment in which our city is most wofully deficient, it is a matter of gratification that the two largest and most beautiful fountains on this continent are so near completion. THE GREAT FOUNTAIN ON THE MALL, in the Central Park, is now receiving its finishin touches. This fountain was first broached in 1866 and has been in process of construction ever since. At the time Miss Emma Stebbins, the sister of the present President of the Board of Parks, was given the work of designing the statues which should form the main ornament of the great fountain. Miss Stebbins, whose studie is in Rome. commenced this main effort of her artist life at the time, and at intervals has continued on it more or less ever since. When she terminated her labors Miss Stebbins' models were conveyed to the foundry of Herr Ferdinand Von Muller, in Munich, Bavaria, who cast them in bronze. They arrived here during the past Summer in a perfect and complete state and have not been unpacked since, but are awaiting the completion of the base. This is a very beautiful and noble work, and was designed by Calart Vaux and Jacob Wray Mould, architects of the public parks. The lower receiving basin was laid some time ago, but it is only recently that the work has really been pushed forward. The lower base is constructed of bluestone, ornamented with carved work, and supporting sixteen pillars of polished Peterhead granite, the bases and caps of the columns being made of Bolid bronze. On these repose THE IMMENSE STONE BASIN, which is made of a solid piece of Westerly (R. I.) gran. Ite, one of the largest single stones ever unearthed. In its polished state it is seventeen feet in diameter, and three attempts were made before a solid stone large enough for the purpose could be found. The upper edge of the basin is a bronze rim, one foot high. The inner base above the basin is of bluestone, and above this again is another rim of bronze. On this stands the first group of statuary. The design of the whole is the Angel of Mercy blessing the Pool of Bethesda. She stands on a bronze rock, from which the waters gush out as the angel touches it. This group is supported by four boys, each holding a shell to cauch the overflow from the rock above. The fountain is an octagon, and from each corner of the rock on which e angel stands a jet springs out falling into the tower basin beneath, the overplus dripping down into the granite basin and thence into the lower basin. Each jet has a force of about sixteen feet, will be quite imposing, added to several jets which spring upward from the angel's feet. Flowers, in bronze, &c., add to the effect of the whole. The statue of the angel topping the whole is colossal, and will be touched in no way by the waters bethe plumbing, excepting the base above the basin the plumbing, excepting the base above the basin, on which base the statuary is to stand. This will be put up in the course of a week or so, and then nothing will remain but to put up the statuary to anish the entire thing. The cost is as follows:—Commission to Miss Stebbins, as the artist, $25,000; to Herr Von Muller for casting the statuary, $55,000; polished granite basin, $10,000; bronze work, $13,000; polished columns, $400; plumbing and basin, $2,500—making a grand total of $100,000 for the fountain, which is accounted reasonable, considering its beauty and size. When finished it will not be surpassed in beauty by any fountain in the world.

THE POUNTAIN IN CITY HALL PARK.

We had not much cause to thank the previous Board of Parks for their idea of beauty in fourtains. The twopenup spuris in the City Hall Park are ridiculous and useless. The new one, however, will be a work of att. It was designed by Mr. Mould and doese-redit not only to him, but to our city, The base is granite and square. Four outward basins will receive small jets of water on each side from the main basin. Around the parapet are polished slabs of granite resting on the cut granite. The base is a single column supporting the basin in polished granite. Above this will start the single base supporting another polished basin regle base supporting another polished basin re-The base is a single column supporting the basin in polished granite. Above this will start the single base supporting another polished basin reversed. From this will spring lour large outward jets and numerous smaler downward and upward jets, forming altogether a substantial volume of water and spray. From the basins will fall the overlapping waters in streams. Top of all will rise a substantial ornamental bronze final. To render the fountain still more ornamental, handsome bronze lampposts will rise on each of the four corners, each supporting three ornamental lamps. In the minor jets on each of the four outward sides bronze leaves will see the water spurting out two or three feet. It was originally intended to have four jets of water rising from the lower basin and meeting at the top, but it was feared there would not be force enough to send the water up the distance needed, and the clides was abandoned. This is a pity, as by it the principal working beauty of the fountain is lost. But idea was abandoned. This is a pity, as by it the principal working beauty of the fountain is lost. But it would require a stram engine in the City Hail to give the water the necessary impulsion for these jets, and the Commissioners are alraid of the expense. The total cost of this fountain will be about thirty thousand dollars. It is all finished but the reversed basin and the finial.

Besides these fountains numerous improvements are at present going on in the several city parks.

After the act of vandalism of pulling down and and destroying the trees in this square to a large extent—a silly and unnecessary improvement (*)—the Commissioners now find themselves obliged to plant trees in the very places, or a lew feet away from, where they existed before. Along the border on the east side of the square about a dozen will be planted, and the noise are all ready to receive them. Numbers will be planted on the southern and western sides of the ornamental Swiss chalet which is now in course of construction on the northern end of the square. This pretry house is to be used as a ladies' retiring place, and will be almost concealed from view on these two sides to make it as private as possible, on the other sides it will be left as open as possible, as it is intended to be made use of the square to the other, along seventeenth street, and supported by four ornamental pllars, terminating in flagstaffs, will be one of the marked features of the improvement. These will be lighted whenever a meeting takes place, The cost of lighting them will be $30 cach evening. This last piece, which has been cut off from the square, has left an open space which will accommodate about twenty thousand people. This was done to relieve the lower part of the square, which has heretofore been used for public meetings. It is unsecusary to give here any description of the châlet. It fs, however, prettier than those of its class in other squares. The only remaining improvement in Union square is the asphaltic pavenent, the laying of which seems the only existing improvements are the trees, which are being planted in profusion at present. It will be fully fifteen years before they can become of any use for shade purposes, or, indeed, for beauty, as they are all small and sickly.

THE MANHATTAN PARK improvement is getting on slowly but surely. This park will be between Seventy seventh and which it is intended shall be a beautiful building of granite and iron, and the total cost of which will be $500,000. By next Spring a great deal will have already been done towards this building, it, indeed, the authorities at Albany do not interfere. The Museum of Art in the Central Park, at Eighty-seventh street and Fifth avenne, is beling pushed. The digging and blasting for the foundations will take the entire Winter, as it is a stone bottom, which will be very good when the foundations are being laid, but which is very troublesome at present. The cost of this is $500,000, and it will be made of the same materials as the other museum.

The lower and main buildings are made use of already, but will not be altogether finished before next Fail. The total cost of these will be about $180,000. They have been in course of construction for the past four years.

The only remaining improvement in prospect—the Merchante' Gate, which is to be on the Eighth avenue entrance of the Park—it is almost too early to speak of at present. The Board holds a meeting next week in relation to it.

THE INTERNATIONALS.

The Federal Council-Increase of Crime in California-Lands Divided up in Maryland and Virginia-Relief for the Widows and Orphans of the Commune-A Letter of Wendell Phillips'-Work ingmen Sore with Perpetual Injustice. The Federal Council of the Internationals held their regular weekly meeting yesterday, at 129 Spring street. Twelve delegates were present. In addition to the members of the Council there were resent representatives of labor organizations of the city, citizens and a few ladies. For the number of the people in the room it would be difficult to find a more cosmopolitan gathering, every Euro-pean nationality being here represented. The objects for which the Federal Council is established are pronounced to be the formation of a central medium of communication and co-operation between the workingmen's societies existing in different parts of America and aiming at the same endthe protection, advancement and complete emancipation of the working classes.

After the regular routine business of the society had been proceeded with, about twelve communications were read from different parts of the United States, from which the following was gleaned :- In California a person can now commit the foullest crimes in the decalogue and be certain of escape if he has money or friends. Murder is getting to be almost as common in San Francisco as it was before the dark days of 1856. Courts and officers sustained at an enormous expense, and yet large criminals go free, while the petty thief receives the punishment. Several of the large landholders of Maryland and Virginia have decided to cut up their farms to a certain extent and sell or lease to immigrants or others upon such terms as will be reasonable such small portion of the land as will secure a permanent settlement of families, whose services at fixed and air rates shall be paid or by the owners of the land, until the whole of the purchase money shall have been paid by the aborers. It is expected that suitable laws will be enacted by the next Legislature to legalize and strictly enforce all such contracts. A communication from Washington states that the Workingmen's National Council was in session in the aforesaid city last week. It is reputed to be one of the greatest political movements ever inaugurated in as it was before the dark days of 1856. Courts and greatest political movements ever inaugurated in the United States. It was then announced that a mass meeting would take place on the evening of the 14th instant, in the large hall of the Cooper In-stitute, for the benefit of the widows and orphans of the Communists who have been either exiled or shot.

stitute, for the benefit of the widows and orphans of the Communists who have been either exiled or shot.

Letters from several prominent speakers were read, stating their willingness to attend at the above meeting. A letter was read from Wendell Phillips, in which he stated that owing to previous engagements he could not be present. He referred to the French Communie in his letter in very fast tering terms, stating that they were entitled to the respect of the convilized world. The barbartites exercised on the Communists was a disgrace and a shame to humanity. Never had there been made in the history of the human race a more dislinerested effort for liberty than the Communists had put forth in this nincteenth century.

Mr. McCauley then called the attention of the Council to the case of Robert O. Chambers (carpenter), who was recently sentenced to seven year's State Prison by Recorder Hackett. He reviewed the circumstances connected with the case, and suggested that the influence of the Council be brought to bear on the matter and a collection made in order to have a new trial for Chambers.

Dr. Kriggert, in the course of a long address,

Chambers.

Dr. Kingerr, in the course of a long address, Dr. Kisgert, in the course of a long address, said that the action of the judiciary was arbitrary and unjust, and if chambers had money or friends it is questionable if he would have received such a severe sentence. The speaker reviewed the different murder cases that have taken place in the past two years in this city, and showed how the rich generally escaped from receiving punishment for violating the laws of the land. Workingmen were sore with perpetual injustice. At the conclusion of his address the Doctor said that there == 400 man on fifth avenue would trust his horse in. It was unanimously decided to appoint a committee to draw up a resolution for the press and for presentation to the Governor for the pardon of Chambers. It seems that the different trades unions are collecting funds for the purpose of emunions are collecting funds for the purpose of em-ploying counsel and such other means as they may deem prudent in order to have Chambers pardoned, Twenty dollars was contributed by the Council for the above purposes, after which the meeting ad-

NEW YORK CITY.

On the 4th instant Thomas Farley, a man seventy-five years of age, fell from one of the Third avenue cars, in Chatham street, and was run over. He was taken to the Centre Street Hospital and afterwards to Bellevue Hospital, but on Saturday the friends of Mr. Fartey thought best to remove him to St. Vincent's Hospital, and while doing so he died in the ambulance. Coroner Young was notified. Deceased is said to have lived jut 177 Chatham street.

The case of John McMillian, charged with knock" ing down and robbing James Hume, the master builder, of Clinton place, near Washington Park, on Thanksgiving evening, came up for examina-tion before Justice Cox, at Jefferson Market, yes-terday. Mr. Hume positively identified the pris-oner as the one of the assailants who struck him on the forehead, rendering him senseless, while the other two held him. A girl named Louisa Smith swore that she saw the whole affair, and positively identified McMillian as one of the robbers. He was committed in delault of $5,000 ball to answer.

William Aiken, of 599 Eleventh avenue, was brought up at Jefferson Market yesterday, charged with a felonious assault on Richard Markham. The with a felonious assault on Richard Markham. The face of the complainant was cut and bruised in the most shocking manner, and astonished those most accustomed to similar sights. The evidence showed that Markham was set upon in the saloon corner of Forty-first street and Ninth avenue by the prisoner and others, and that he had a very narrow escape of his life. A small sum of money was also taken from him. The prisoner, who was a particularly brutal appearing person, was held to ball in the sum of $2,000 to answer.

War in Kaffraria and Sharp Battle Shocks Between the Contending Armies.

Tambookies and Kreli's Men in Combat with Great Slaughter-Division After Division Poured Into the Fie'd-European Arms in Use-British Interests in the Local Confusion.

By mail from the Cape of Good Hope we have fles from South Africa dated at Port Elizabeth on the 15th of October. The journals supply the following animated report of the progress of a great native war:-

THE TAMBOORIES AND ERELI'S MEN IN BATTLE IN THE FIELD. Intelligence was received from beyond the Kei yesterday morning, from which it appears that many of Krell's people had returned home with portions of the spoil captured after their contest with the Tambookies in the field. These consisted of horses, sheep and guns, very few cattle having, it is said, been taken.

The slaughter of the Tambookies in the first en counter with Krell's army is said to have been very

THE FIELD OF BATTLE AND PARTICULARS OF THE GREAT ENCOUNTER. Just beyond the Bashee, in the part occupied by the chief Moni, there is a peculiar piece of country, forming, as it were, a sort of basin, with a num-forming, as it were, a sort of basin, with a number of thickly wooded kloois leading down and meeting at one point.

It was in these that Krell's army ensconced themselves, which, being known to Gangelizwe, he apportioned his army into five divisions and marched to the attack, giving his generals instructions for the centre divisions to make a feint attack on the centre divisions to make a feint attack on the centre kloofs, so as to draw out Krell, when they were to tall back, and the right and left arms were then to close in from the rear.

Instead of following these instructions, it appears that Gangelizwe's left division prematurely attacked the outer kloof, and, being flercely met by the enemy, gave way.

The right then came to their assistance, and was also obliged to retire, and this appears to have been the signal for a general retreat, of which the Galeks's took advantage, and, according to their report, all the footmen of the left division of Gangelizwe's army were slain, amounting, according to some estimates, to about 400, and to others to 1,400 of 1,500.

It is said that on Friday last firing was heard in the diagetion of the reserve—the Idntywa—but this requires confirmation.

The "Reliable Contralant" in Exertion at Hole.

It is, however, by no means impossible, as from the diagram of the reserve—the Idutywa—but this requires confirmation.

The "RELIABLE CONTRABAND" IN EXERTION AT HOME.

It is, however, by no means impossible, as from information received by us Kreit was, according to "latest accounts," on the way back with his army, with the object of pinishing Mapassa and Zobello, two of his subordinate chiefs, who are firm adherents to our government, and who refused to take any part against the Tambookies.

We believe these chiefs are desirous of protection from the government, but whether they will receive it or not is hard to say, for the Governor seems very slow to move in the matter, and to take advantage of the opportunity now thrown in his way of putting an effectual end to these disputes. It Kreit attacks Mapassa and Zobello, who are said to have about two thousand followers, there can be but little doubt but that the latter will seek refuge in the reserve, and it may be that the firing said to have been heard in that direction may have arisen from that cause. It is said the Galekas have driven their cattle into the forests for some purpose or other.

EUROPEAN ARMS AND BRITISH INTEREST.

Eye-witnesses state that it was perfectly astonishing to see the number of capital frearms sported by the two contending armies. Among the Tambookies in particular this was a prominent feature, many of them being armed with double-barrelied guns and some even with Enfield rifles.

Gangelizwe has offered to surrender himself and his people to the government as British subjects and place his territory at the diposal of the colonial government. If His Excellency should hesitate to accent such surrender there can be little doubt but that Kreil will claim it on the score of right by conquest, and this will give rise to serious complications.

We would, says a Cape City journalist, respectfully suggest to the government as British subjects. This would be in our opinion fraught with the greatest beneficial results to the colony, and would, in course of very little time, put a stop to Kreil
